A BREWING HISTORY

Portsmouth was once home to the Frank Jones Brewery, purchased by Frank Jones in 1858. By 1882, it was the largest ale producer in the country, brewing 150,000 barrels of ale that year. In 1889, Jones put his company's stock on the market in London. The brand's popularity continued to climb and soon employed over 500 workers, with production peaking at 250,000 barrels in 1896. Today there are many craft breweries in the region. Taste for yourself!
